BALLOONISTS START IN RACE FOR BENNETT CUP

Aeronauts of Three Nations Now in Air, Three Headed Towards Canada—Expect to Establish New Long-Distance Record

(Special to the Capital.)
Kansas City, Oct. 5.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon the first starter, America II, in the great international balloon race for the Bennett cup rose from the ground in the ascension field, hung in the air for a few minutes and soared away to the eastward before a slight breeze. Five minutes later the German entry, The Dusseldorf, followed, and rose to a height several hundred feet above the American. Toppa II, Hamburg III, Kansas City II and the two French balloons followed at five minute intervals. In all nine balloons started.

Before the fifth balloon had risen from the ground, Toppa II, skimming the ground before a stronger breeze than his competitors who had risen high, had overtaken the German starter. At the end of a half-hour six balloons were strung in a zigzag line across the sky and in three-quarters of an hour the first starter, America II, had disappeared over the horizon in a northeasterly direction.

An immense crowd was on hand to witness the start of the race, the grandstands having a seating capacity of 30,000 were filled and the crowd overflowed along the fence. It is estimated that there were 35,000 or 40,000 people on the field.

Simultaneously with the start of the great race three independent balloons rose from a field near the grounds. They were unofficial entrants competing for the Latin cup for distance record. One of these entrants was a woman, Mrs. C. A. Coyle.

The main race is for the James Gordon Bennett cup, donated by him, for the world's championship distance flight. Three nations—America, France and Germany—are represented.

The balloons which race are all rubberized ones, inflated with natural gas. Ideal weather conditions exist, and if they hold and if the slight breeze continues or strengthens there is almost sure to be a world's record established.

STEEL DERRICK COMES IN CONTACT WITH LIVE WIRE AND DEATH RESULTS

(Western Associated Press.)
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 5.—By a steel derrick swinging around dead coming into contact with a hydroelectric wire on Davenport Hill today, George Welby was instantly killed. Welby was employed by Thompson, a contractor, who are building a stable at the rear of J. C. Eaton's residence. He was operating the derrick for hoisting up the stones with both hands on the steel levers and standing on the ground. He turned his crane around and it crashed into the wire at the side of the road. Immediately a short circuit made from the wire down the steel derrick and Welby's body. The wires carried about 2,500 volts and the man died instantly. He was about 32 years old.

BARREL, HAWLEY (on left) and HAWLEY (on right) are the two well-known balloonists who represent America in the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, to be held at Kansas City today.

NEW TURKISH CABINET APPEALS TO GREAT BRITAIN TO STOP CONFLICT

The United States Once Had a War With Tripoli

Tripoli was conquered by the Turks in the middle of the sixteenth century. After this it became a seat of Barbary pirates. In 1714 it secured its independence from Turkey, a Moorish chief establishing himself as bey. His descendants ruled the country for over 121 years when the Turks resumed their authority (1835). In the days when it was independent, a war broke out between the United States and Tripoli, and lasted from 1801 to 1805. War was declared by Tripoli in 1801, because the United States refused to increase the annual tribute of $80,000 which it had paid for five years to secure immunity from the depredations of the Tripolitan Corsairs. The United States, expecting that war would be declared, had taken the precaution of sending a squadron to the Mediterranean. In October, 1803, the United States frigate Philadelphia, while chasing a corsair into the harbor of Tripoli, struck a sunken rock and was captured by the enemy. In July, 1804, Commodore Edward Preble began a series of only partially successful attacks on the harbor fortifications. William Eaton, an American officer and adventurer, who had been consul at Tunis, 1799-1803, and was subsequently appointed United States naval agent to the Barbary States, organized during the war a movement among the natives to restore Hamet (the brother of the reigning pasha, Yusuf Caramanli), who had agreed to accede to the American demands. Eaton, at the head of a motley troop of 500 men, marched across the desert from Alexandria, and with the assistance of the American squadron he took Derio in 1805, and was about to march on Tripoli when peace was concluded between the United States and the reigning pasha.

Russia Names Terms on Which She Will Assist Turkey—Italian Cruiser Sunk Off Coast of Tripoli—Soldiers Aboard Transport Are Captured

(Special to the Capital.)

London, Oct. 5.—Reports received here indicate that Turkey will appeal to Great Britain to interfere and put a stop to the war, now that Germany has definitely announced that it will not step in. It is known that Turkey has sent a note to the foreign office, but what the reply will be is only a matter of speculation. It is known, however, that Britain will interfere on behalf of Turkey if Italy attempts to occupy Albania or attacks any of the Turkish ports outside of Tripoli.

This was the information given the porte yesterday by the resident British ambassador at Constantinople. It is understood that Russia has advised the porte that his country will assist Turkey providing Russian vessels are guaranteed free and unrestricted passage of the Dardanelles in future.

NEW CABINET NAMED

London, Oct. 5.—A despatch from Constantinople to the Central News says the ministerial appointments were announced from the palace today.

Minister of the Interior—Ridid Pasha, at present Turkish ambassador at Vienna.

Minister of War—Shevket Pasha, who holds the same portfolio in the ministry.

Minister of Marine—Vice-Admiral Hali Bey.

Minister of Justice—Abdullah Pasha. It is understood that Hali Bey will probably be appointed grand vizier.

There is an interesting report in circulation in Vienna to the effect that Turkey proposes to move against the Italian colony of Eritrea on the African coast of the Red sea.

(Western Associated Press)

London, Oct. 5.—The Chronicle's Constantinople correspondent says the Mussulman women are displaying great patriotism and are offering the jewels and precious carpets to help their country's cause.

The correspondent continues: "Have received telegram from Benhasi saying the population there is well armed and has vowed to shed its last drop of blood for Tripoli. The difficulties of Said Pasha, the grand vizier, are increasing. He has appealed to several former grand viziers for assistance, but all have declined.

The impotence of the governing men, however, is in strong contrast to the patriotism and devotion of the people. A high Ottoman official informs me that never before has Islam presented such a united front and that never before has England had such a magnificent opportunity to win by a judicious policy the sympathy of not only the Ottoman people but of the whole Islamic world.

The startling report has reached the newspapers that Italian and Turkish fleets are engaged in a fierce battle north of Mytilene. Similar information has reached the Austrian postoffice here.

A new cabinet has just been formed, but it has no stability and no programme, and therefore will be short-lived.

News received here today from several towns in the empire is to the effect that the Italian coat of arms has been torn down and sold at auction. One thus at Saloniki brought $10.

The incoming Italian mail was seized today by the Turkish authorities and only delivered to the German postoffice after Baron Marchall von Biberstein, the German ambassador, protested. The newspapers report that an Italian cruiser has been sunk by a Turkish torpedo boat off Tripoli.

NO PROSPECTS OF PEACE

The postoffice and the consuls have promised the newspaper correspondents that they will be allowed in Tripoli on Friday.

While Italy is thus hurrying the programme of establishing herself in Tripoli the Turkish government is in a hopeless tangle. The ministry is virtually non-existent, the scene between the Young Turks and the men of the old regime making the adoption of any definite line of policy impossible.

For the moment, all talk of mediation of peace negotiations has been relegated to the background.

FIRING IS HEARD

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—Telegrams have been received reporting that heavy firing is heard at sea from De Deagach towards the Gulf of Saros, in the Asian sea.

NAMARA BROS. VICTIMS OF PLOT

LITTLE QUESTION BUT WHAT THEY WILL BE ACQUITTED SAYS GOMPERTS.

(Western Associated Press.)
Washington, D.C., Oct. 5.—"I found the spirit of unrest among the workmen of the west far more pronounced than I expected, and no one can tell what will happen," said President Samuel GomPERTS, of the federation of labor today, following his return from the Pacific coast.

"The recent strikes in England and Ireland are apt to be duplicated here, if employers continually refuse to meet the workmen's representatives," he continued. "Some time in Los Angeles I held a conference with the Namara brothers, and I am more than ever convinced that they are the victims of a diabolical plot."

"The American Federation of Labor will stand by them until the end and we have obtained the services of able lawyers who cannot be bought. I am confident that when the true state of affairs is shown everyone will be prepared for the vindication."

For the accommodation of the public the box office at the Thistle rink will be open until 2:30 tonight, where those who desire may secure tickets for the Allen Nelson concert.

TRIPOLI HAS FALLEN.

(Western Associated Press.)
Glasgow, Oct. 5.—Hill and company, agents at Tripoli, this afternoon received a cablegram from Tripoli, saying: "The Italian flag now floats over Tripoli."

TURKEY'S REASON FOR APPEALING TO POWERS

Turkey has addressed five notes to the powers of Europe requesting them to intervene and prevent Italy from declaring war, and after the war proclamation had been handed down to stop it. In these notes Turkey explained at length that she had no quarrel with Italy and did not wish a war. Since the outbreak of hostilities it is brought to mind that the Turks had refused to sell Tripoli to Italy, and when the latter found that the territory could not be purchased they decided to cook up a scheme whereby they could use a little persuasive influence in the shape of battleships and regiments of troops. The indications at the present moment are that the last resort will not only prove successful but less expensive.

One of the chief reasons why Turkey has strenuously objected to going to war was due to the fact that she knew her navy could not begin to cope with that of Italy.

On the land Turkey would have a fair chance of winning the conflict as her standing army is as good as that of Italy and much larger. But, Turkey is in the position that she dare not fight on the sea because she would certainly be defeated, as recent events have shown. She cannot land troops in Tripoli to protect her interest there for the simple reason that she cannot march them overland as they would have to cross British territory and Britain would not consent to the entrance of an armed force. They could not be sent unarmed as there is no way in which munitions of war could be forwarded. Equally impossible is it for her to send her troops to the assistance of the garrison at Tripoli without a navy to protect her transports. This was tried yesterday and the transports are now in possession of the Italian fleet and the men on board prisoners of war.

Summed up, Italy wanted to buy Tripoli, but Turkey would not sell. Italy then declared war; Turkey cannot send troops to protect her interest for the simple reason that they would be captured before they got within cannon shot of their destination. The inference is that Italy will annex Tripoli if the powers do not interfere.

THE CANADIAN NAVY AND THE REFERENDUM

In the forecasting of political events at Ottawa under the new government the navy question naturally comes prominently to the fore. The Laurier government had outlined a programme for the formation of a Canadian navy, independent entirely of Britain's fleets but whether the Borden regime will carry out this programme appears to be a matter of speculation. The naval question in three phases has come prominently before the people of Canada as well as in the house of commons. The policy above outlined; the contribution of a fixed sum each year to be used in the up-building and maintenance of the mother country; and those who were opposed to adopting either policy.

Premier-elect Borden, after considerable uncertain deliberation, enrolled himself with those who were in favor of a contribution to the Imperial navy. The Laurier government had already called for tenders for a number of cruisers, but the indications at present are that the Borden government will take a plebiscite to ascertain what the people of Canada really desire before any decision is reached. Considering the style of campaign waged by the Borden wing of the conservative party during the late campaign this action would let Borden and his followers out of a hole.

Round the World in Thirteen Days

In Paris, where the imagination frequently turns to a blue machine, built like blue motors, of intense combustion, they are now talking of a tour of the world by aeroplane. It is the ideal way to go, they aver, and even more promising in the matter of romantic adventures than Jules Verne's circumambient flight by held-up trains, lumbering elephants and exploding steamships. The aerial route has no custom houses, no detectors, no washed-out bridges, no delayed connections; and if some charming person had to be rescued on route it could be more easily as well as more theatrically be effected by dropping down out of the sky, à la Perseus.

"It will be easy," say the enthusiasts, "to make 1,500 kilometres (745 miles) a day by aeroplane within a few years, and then we shall go round the world in less than a month."

But 745 miles a day is only about thirty-one miles an hour, and even allowing for delays, one may expect that the perfected aeroplane will do better than that. It ought to average fifty miles an hour, or 1,200 miles a day. Then, world-circling by aeroplane, indeed, he a most fascinating sport. The time required would, of course, depend on the latitude of the route followed. At the equator the circumference of any circle is found by multiplying its diameter by 3.14, but on a globe like the earth the diameter of the circle represented by any parallel of latitude varies as the cosine of the latitude. At latitude 0 degrees (the equator) the cosine is 1, and the diameter, in round numbers, 8,000 miles; but at latitude 40 degrees, the cosine is only 0.76, corresponding to a diameter of 6,080 miles, which, multiplied by 3.14 gives about 19,000 miles for the circumference. For latitude 50 degrees the cosine is 0.65, making the circumference only 15,000 miles; while in latitude 60 degrees, where the cosine is only 0.5, the circumference does not exceed about 12,500 miles.

The latitude of 50 degrees north, passing centrally over Europe, Asia and North America would seem to offer a good aerial route, with a distance of only 16,000 miles to traverse, and at 1,200 miles a day, the circuit could be completed in 13 days and 8 hours. At present this is only a dream, but Jules Verne's romance was only a dream, and yet he lived to see his imaginary eight days cut down one-half by actual fact.

ON THE MAP
By IRWIN THOMAS.

Ge, but this old town feels fine, though it isn't on the map. It's on the map for fair right now. Every one to us must bow. The man who made the map forgot To show us even by a dot.

Ge, but it's great, this little bit, The county seat is out of sight, An aviator, sailing high, Dragg'd us from out the sky, We got him here, and folks do say, They don't expect he'll get away.

But you can't tell about those chaps, Soaring around in leather caps, Some say forever where they fall, And others do not fall at all, They like as not go sailing by, Cutting capers in the sky.

This one that faded down on us, Certain raised an awful fuss, He's a scoundrel from the county fair, This fellow from the upper air, One thing's sure, we're on the map, All the world knows where we're at.

The basketball was not of a brilliant variety, all the teams apparently not being in shape. The games however showed indications of what will be done later in the season. The men showed that they are all good players so that as soon as they get into condition again they have a few practices together, thereby getting a little closer to the game. We will show a decided improvement.

In the first game the Kolts showed it over the Keystones somewhat hard. The score was 29 to 11 and even so that in the last half the youngsters did

A FEW WORDS
FROM CONNIE
MACK ON GA

"Sure," I think the Athletics will win but I do not agree with you when you say it will go seven games. It is going to be won in either five or six games."

Makes Him Laugh

"All this talk about the base running of the Giants makes me laugh. The Giants' stolen bases are not worth a bit. When was a world series won by base-running? Never. World's championships are won in the pitcher's box and that is where we are going to show to advantage. Base running? It makes me laugh. - It's a joke."

"We are going to be stronger in the box this fall than we were a year ago. Then we had two pitchers, now we have five in Coombs, Bender, Plank, Morgan and Krause. Yes, Krause. There is one great left hander" now. He has finally developed into a good curve ball pitcher, and is as good a left hander as there is in the league. Just keep your eye on him. He never had a curve ball until lately.

J. McGRAW IS USING PSYCHOLOGY IN GAME

Connie Mack and J. McGraw Use Peculiar Methods to Win Their Games—Methods Undreamed of by Many Are in Constant Use in Big Leagues

John J. Drew and his Giants are playing psychology to beat the Athletics. They are already campaigning against Mack's men. The Giants' scheme is to make the Athletics feel they are the winners for the world series. That's the giants are giving out information to the press about the recent Athletics' catches. Here is a sample of the Giants' campaign, this statement:

"We'll beat the Athletics in the world series on base running. Not only will we have the best base runners, but the moral insurance of our base running will have a strong effect on the Athletics' pitchers."

against the Tigers a few years ago. Before the world's series chance passed by Detroit did not have the best backdrop staff in the country, and therefore he began giving out information to the press about the Athletics' catches and prophesizing that his team would win the world series.

Change's Old Scheme

Change's work had some effect on the Tigers' backdrop. The constant change of the backdrop staff has been the minds of the Detroit backdrop, and it is on record that the work they did on the backdrop was somewhat better than the work done

This is part of the daily program. McGraw and others are giving out similar statements. They are spreading them broadcast, getting them in wherever possible. The belief is that a man constantly coming out saying "I am not a Communist" is in a position on which he is not positive will believe it to be true.

The Athletics have not the best catchers in the league. Connie Mack realizes this. He has outgrossed McGraw's plan. Before McGraw started to give out statements on what his men would do Mack began issuing statements on Ira Thomas. "He's without a doubt the best catcher in the league today and one of the very best anywhere produced."

Mack has issued these interviews wherever he could. He stirred up sentiment in favor of Thomas. He got people to talking about Ra's ability. Mack realized that if he could get Ra's name out in the open, he could win the game. He used the praise route to give Thomas confidence in himself. The idea was to induce in Thomas the belief that he was the catcher who would win the game. Mack knew that he was impossible for anyone to steal on him.

Must Rely on Thomas
In the world's series Mack will rely on Thomas. If Thomas is confident that no one will steal on him, it will be a hard job to bluff him. Thomas is the object of attack on the part of Mack's batsmen and the object of defense from Mack. The Cubs used the same methods

Competitions in Many Events Were Very Close and Interest

Long Programme Will Be Run Off

The first day of the public school sports held at the high school grounds, Third street, yesterday evening and in spite of bad grounds the events were run off with a vim and records smashed with an enthusiasm and strength of the school boys and girls of Edmonton, that has not been seen since the jumpers. Some of the marks were excellent, as in the Junior high jump—first jump, 4 ft. 8 in.; second, 4 ft. 8 in. and 4 ft. 8 in. Other notable marks are in the senior events, some of which are as follows:—

1800 yds. H. P. Rogers, 18 ft. and 18 ft. 6 in. and the hop, step and marks made:

High School Events.
Junior Running Broad Jump—First, 10 ft. 6 in.; second, 10 ft. 6 in. Mitchell; 2, G. Montgomery; 3, H. McQueen.
Senior Running Broad Jump—First, 12 ft. 6 in.; second, 12 ft. 6 in.; 3, English; 4, E. Azar.
Junior Hop-Step-and-Jump—First, 10 ft. 6 in.; second, 10 ft. 6 in.; 3, Mitchell; 4, H. McQueen.
Senior Hop-Step-and-Jump—First, 12 ft. 6 in.; second, 12 ft. 6 in.; 3, English; 4, J. Crozier.
Junior High Jump—First jump, 4 ft. 8 in.; second, 4 ft. 8 in.; 3, Mitchell; 4, A. Kerr.

The tug-of-war was one of the most interesting events of the day. Six teams were entered and they were divided into two groups of three. Queens, K.A.A. and the Kings were in the first group, and being in the first group, they were the first to pull. A new method of marking winners is being tried. As each man gets a place in a race or jump he is decorated with a ribbon marked first, second or third as the case may be. Later the prizes are awarded to the proper men.

Friday will be the big day. Sports that day will be held out at the Exhibition grounds, and there will be a long list of events run off during the afternoon. The closeness of the competitions and the marks made by the competitors make it certain that Friday will see the best field day of sports that has been held in Edmonstone for a long time.

Following were the events run off yesterday with the winners and best:

Yarns of the Diamond

Up in the wilds of Maine, near the stately city of East Sebago, in the Lumberman's League, the genial Franklin Adams, a New York scribe, is resting and rousing up dope.

A few days back he encountered a rabid Maine bull, with the following results outlined by his own inimitable fountain pen:

"I meets a gazimind doxven ten th' vilittish this mornin' and I asks him 'Whut the fides done.'"

"'Wen the pennut, b'geesh,' says he

Catcher Tom Needham of the Chicago Cubs, has a new wrinkle for the baseball season. "I mean, says I, 'I mean yestidy.'"

"'Ain't had time to foller 'em this year,' says he, 'Thought ye meant last season.'"

"I think I know where I can get it," said Ping. "You wait here for me."

Half an hour later Rodie reappeared, looking disappointed. "Nothing doing," he said. "I think I made my talk a little bit stronger. Tell me what you do—time keeps the hands cool.

Charles H. Chenev, of Lewistown, Idaho, submits the following baseball rhyme:

The little boys who, with scorn, perform a game of ball to outdo who never, on a summer's day, to the local park would stray,
and who, in thoughtless ignorance, of the better make a "joke,"
as the moundman throws a wicked drop,
or a speedy one with an inward snap,
and who, in the excitement of the game, bring a curse when his "one and three,"
or whose blood has never ready run, around to the hotel and ask Galbraith for it. He always has money. He will give you a dollar, and he will lend you what you need it for emergency, and win it back tomorrow."

Douglas departed. Another half-dozen more were to be expected.
"What are you aiming?" "A little bit."
"Sure I asked him," "Sure I told him."
"He told me to go to hell."
"Hodie scratched his chin thoughtfully."

"It is what they call a noncommental on that subject," he remarked.
"He told me the same thing."

HUNTERS!!

Nothing more interesting has come out in recent years than the new Hunting Vest. The shells protrude from beneath, so that they may easily be grasped when wanted, even by benumbed fingers; but are held in position so firmly that they cannot drop out. Made like a repeating gun—every time you take a shell out another drops down to take its place.

You simply must have one. Call and see them while they last.
